During the latter part of January and first week in February 1951, several carloads of flour, weighing 12 tons apiece, were deposited at a Soviet military storage dump in Brunn an Gebirge, Lower Austria. The storage area, located directly opposite the USIA-controlled Erste Oesterreichische Maschin-glasindustrie A.G., was formerly a German food dump. It is now undergoing general repairs. The storage dump is kept under 24 hour armed guard.
